Araranguá

Araranguá is a coastal municipality located in the extreme south of the state of Santa Catarina, Brazil. Its population is approximately 67 thousand inhabitants.

Agriculture, trade, tourism and industry – particularly metallurgy, ceramics, footwear, furniture and clothing industries - form the basis of its economy, together with the service sectors.
Araranguá

Besides the urban area with its intense commercial activities, the city’s coast is endowed with a privileged nature that attracts many tourists.
